GUIDE ON THE USE OF THE DELIVERY ROUTE MAP AND ROAD SIGNAGE

The Park Royal Delivery Route Map has been produced by Park Royal Partnership and the West London Freight Quality Partnership. The map is intended to aid drivers find their way to business premises within Park Royal as efficiently as possible with minimal travel through local and residential roads. It is useful to both regular drivers and those who are unfamiliar to Park Royal. The map is available as paper copies from Park Royal Partnership or can be downloaded from www.westlondonfqp.com.

The map is based on the compass directional system for Park Royal. You may have already noticed that directional signage to and within Park Royal have been improved to compliment the map.

There are 2 sections to the map, the strategic map (giving directions to junctions leading into the Park Royal estate) and local map (local road directions). The maps shows one-way roads, turning restrictions and signal controlled junctions. Destinations at Park Royal are colour coded on the map index according to the recommended access route. For destinations not identifies, use the closest adjacent destination. 2 or more colour labels indicate alternative access routes depending on driver's direction of travel.

Delivery Drivers

Drivers can search their destination on the map index and follow the guide on how to get there. For instance, to get to Abbey Road Industrial Estate (access colour blue), drivers should follow signs on the strategic road network to Park Royal (N) and then to Abbey Road. The estate is located on Commercial Way, off Abbey Road.

Park Royal Businesses

Park Royal businesses can improve how deliveries are made to premises by:

- promoting the availability of the delivery route map and directional signage on formal business correspondence such as company letterheads, delivery notes and on business brochures;
- including directions on Delivery Notes and Orders using the road signage e.g. "Follow signs to Park Royal (N) and then to Abbey Road. Our estate The estate is on Commercial Way, off Abbey Road."
- including the map and guidance on using it on your corporate website (alternatively a link could be provided to the map on the Park Royal Partnership website);
- promoting the use of the delivery route map to your employees who deal with deliveries and collections;
- providing your delivery contractors and freight operators with copies of the delivery route map and encouraging them to make use of it.
